WE NOMINATE

Abdo Elkholy, 33-year old Egyptian, who in the week ahead—following five years of residence and purposeful work in Princeton—will "go out from Nassau Hall" as one of the first American-trained sociologists concerned with bridging the gap between the democracies of the West and the understandably proud centers of Islam in the Near and Middle East. Where Americans sometimes think in the terms of decades, Elkholy, the first graduate of 1,000-year old El Azhar University in Cairo ever to receive a doctoral degree from an American university, relates the present to the remote past and emphasizes that the Arab world "would be the last to surrender" to the demands of communism.

The Elkholy story, which will be culminated by the University's 213th Annual Commencement on June 14th, is one of the moving episodes in American education in June, 1960. Arriving here in the winter of 1955 with no knowledge of English, and as the lone representative of an educational system reaching out to 400,000,000 persons in the Middle East, Africa and Asia, Elkholy mastered an incomprehensible language in two years. He started graduate study in 1957 and within 36 months—par for the exceptional American graduate student—met all of the requirements for his Ph. D., including a fine dissertation on "Religion and Assimilation in Two Moslem Communities in America."

When Elkholy rises in place in the Nassau Hall "Commencement Amphitheater", he will be representing a tradition stretching back to the history of the Crusades. His "mother institution", El Azhar, is an all-embracing center of Islamic study, starting in the primary grades and ranging upward through the university. He learned the Koran while squatting at the feet of teachers in an open courtyard, to these beginnings he has added the entire gamut of IBM cards and their processing. Among other things, he has proved himself professionally competent in social theory and in the most advanced methods of polling, interviewing, statistical computation and analysis.

Elkholy, whose German-born wife is an alumna of Douglass College and an employee of RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center, has every hope of returning to El Azhar as that venerable institution's first professor of sociology. However, in the summer ahead, prior to establishing his headquarters in Cairo, he will carry forward researches in nine European nations in the interest of obtaining first-hand comparisons between living conditions in the democracies and those prevailing in communist-dominated lands.

In relating what he has gained here to what he senses about his native Egypt, Elkholy sees that Nasser's Egypt, where rigid press controls were invoked this past weekend, "must do a lot with sociology and the social sciences because the people do not understand the social changes that have taken place." He foresees growing agitation, insomuch as the "masses are not familiar with the ways in which they can advance themselves and their communities," and concludes that his people must become "less isolated" and learn cooperative living but not in the communistic sense, in view of their strong religious principles.

For emphasizing that the United States and the Middle East must strengthen their friendly relationships on the basis of mutual trust and understanding; for personifying the spirit in which East and West can meet and move forward together; for meritorious achievement in the face of overwhelming odds; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for WATER REFERENDUM?

Boards of Health Say "No." Meeting together informally to discuss many problems which they have in common, the Boards of Health of Borough and Township decided Thursday night that a referendum on fluoridation would probably be most unwise. They also decided to appoint a committee to study Princeton's water problems.

"A referendum would be a bitter thing," said Dr. William Kleinberg of the Township Board. "It would frighten people into believing they're swallowing poisons and the question is, 'would it be worth it?' I'm inclined to believe we should offer individual flouridation arrangements."

Dr. E. Frederick Laschever, chairman of the Borough Board, suggested that the bitterness might not be as great as Dr. Kleinberg feared, because opponents would not be able to offer any new evidence against flouridation. However, Dr. Kleinberg said he thought the old evidence, already presented, would be bad enough.

"I've received several anonymous, poison-pen letters from people who oppose flouridation," commented William Marvel, Township Committee representative on the Board of Health.

"The library referendum is coming up this fall," Mrs. Robert McAllen of the Township Board pointed out, "and we ought to give it every chance we possibly can because it's a step toward consolidatoin."

Affirmative Vote Not Binding. Mrs. Arthur F. Wagner of the Borough Board of Health agreed with Mrs. McAllen that it would be unfortunate if Princeton were asked to vote on both library and flouridation next fall, and Richard Stoddard of the Borough Board said that it would be awkward to hold a referendum without a commitment from the Princeton Water Company that it would abide by the results of an affirmative referendum.

"There would always be an unhappy minority," Dr. Kleinberg said. He described to the Boards a two-milligram pill in which one milligram of fluoride is present and suggested that it be made available through schools or in Township and Borough Halls to anyone who wanted it. He said the cost would be a bout one one-hundredth of the cost of the injector pumps that would have to be installed by the water company.

The two Boards decided to confer with representatives of towns where the pill has been used to find out whether the "pill program" is effective. They emphasized that any program involving a pill would be temporary, to be followed only until fluoridation of the water supply became feasible.

In addition, Township Attorney Gordon Griffin was asked to investigate future steps which the Township might take in the wake of the Princeton Water Company's position. The two Boards will meet together again following his report.

For Profit, Not Health. "What frightens me is this," said Mr. Stoddard. "I think this attitude on the part of the water company represents a hazard to future health. They are not a forward-looking company with a forward-looking program and I don't think they're considering the future of the community.

"They're operating as profitably as they can for themselves until they can't go any further. Then we may have to step in, and not only take over, but undo what's gone before."

Mr. Stoddard presented figures which he said indicated that the company grossed $280,000 a year, had a net worth of $500,000 and a debt of $800,000. He said he felt that the size of the debt, plus "the relatively small margin of profit," indicated that it might have difficulty raising the money it would need to expand as the community grows.

Mr. Stoddard said that the company has equipment worth about $1 million, and that it pays $27 per share in dividends on stock worth $28.09 a share.

Slow Expansion Charged. He said that, at present, the company waits for the development of a section before it extends its lines to that section, and that it would be better to anticipate growth. He questioned the adequacy of the company's sources of water, and raised the question of additional water towers for fire protection and additional equipment to keep water pressure equalized in the event of fire.

Dr. Kleinberg suggested that state laws may restrict the company's operations, and pointed out that the company cannot have a rate above its actual requirements.

Mr. Stoddard then suggested the formation of a joint Borough-Township Committee which would study the water requirements of both municipalities, examine the legal structure of the water company and decide whether the company can handle the problems by itself, with help, or whether the municipalities should purchase the stock of the company. Both Boards agreed that the committee should be formed.

The two Board of Health chairmen — Dr. Laschever and Dr. Archibald Sheeran — will serve on the new committee and will appoint its two other members, one of whom will probably be associated with the Stony-Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

The Future? Malcolm Crooks, executive director of the Watershed Association, believes that for the next ten years, there will probably be no water problem for Princeton residents. The 11 wells now pumped by the water company, plus the one million gallons daily which it is allowed to take from the Delaware and Raritan Canal, should provide enough water for six to ten thousand more residents of Princeton, according to Mr. Crooks. He also said that there is even more canal water "which is unspoken for," and that the water company might obtain authorization from the state to take some of it.

Mr. Crooks pointed out that if many new industries came into Princeton Township, the picture might change, although he said that the Township would undoubtedly not be interested in industries which required large amounts of water.

He also said that the watershed association has been working for three or four years on a plan to bring Delaware River water directly into the area through Stony Brook by means of a dam on Jacob's Creek, which drains into the river.

And furthermore . . . Before members of the Borough Board of Health joined them, members of the Township Board of Health heard Health Officer Marcella Farley describe the dump on River Road as "a rat-infested menace which violates all ordinances on open dumping."

She pointed out that the dump is next to the Girl Scout Camp site, and that it is overrun with "fat and healthy rats. The Board authorized her to send to the Joint Sewer Operating Committee, which owns the dump, a set of four photographs showing conditions there.

PERSONALITIES

Dr. Marion Spear, 263 Hawthorne Avenue, who on Monday will receive the first "achievement award" made by the Princeton Business and Professional Club, a presentation based on her numerous pioneering ventures in the club's and the community's service. A chiropodist here for three decades, Dr. Spear's projects while a member (and two-term president of the club) include early fund-raising campaigns for the fight against cancer; establishment of a Sunday School before the existence of the Princeton Jewish Center; and assistance in establishing vocational guidance counselling at Princeton High School.

Albert A. Austen, 10 Princeton Avenue, who, in his capacity as assistant professor of English at Rutgers University, took on the added task of coaching the Rutgers team in the TV "College Bowl" quiz program which last Sunday upended a capable entry from Duke University. Next Sunday at 5:30 in Channels 2 or 10), Prof. Austen's well-informed quartet will oppose a team from Union College.

Mrs. J. Dudley Clark, Mountain Avenue, and Mrs. William D. Williams, 200 Stockton Street, who have coordinated the efforts of hundreds of workers striving to maintain the tradition that this year's Hospital Fete will be bigger and better than any of its uniformly successful predecessors. In enticing hundreds to the Fete's site Saturday, they have smartly drawn on two basic human emotions: children's excitement and adults' curiosity, the latter aroused over an ever-fascinating Collectors' Auction that will offer bric-a-brac ranging from tiny teacup to huge houseboat.

ROUND UP

The Princeton area was free of accidents of a tragic nature during the Memorial Day weekend but Princeton Hospital's dispensary was busier than usual with a wide variety of injuries (see page 4)...the weather was uncooperative, below normal temperatures and more rainfall (close to an inch Sunday and Monday) helping to send May into the record books with thermometer readings below average and precipitation well above ... May, 1959, however, was one of the hotter and more humid spring months on record.

Shady Brook residents are against the proposed playground in that area and a petition protesting it is anticipated at Monday night's meeting of Township Committee ...also scheduled for possible action is the pending ordinance requiring that swimming pools be fenced when closer than 300 feet to a neighbor's property ...the measure was tabled at the last go-round, following considerable public debate.

Carl Morgenstern, 9, of 94 Library Place was slightly injured last week while walking his bicycle at the intersection of Library and Stockton...he suffered contusions of the knee when bumped in a rainstorm by a car driven by Rodman L. Fridlund, 33, of 38 Humbert Street.

TOPICS Of the Town

FETE'S HERE!

Saturday's the Day. The Princeton Hospital Fete, which has occupied the time and attention of more than 500 Princeton residents for the past several months, will open this Saturday at 10 a.m. in the field west of Palmer Stadium.

A color scheme of pink, green and white has been chosen for the fair, and there will be all-green tents, table coverings of coral pink or pink and white striped denim, matching pinafores for the attendants and pink blossoms in white containers ranged along the Mall in a row. Clusters of green, pink and white helium-filled balloons will rise above the children's entertainment area.

A special feature of the Fete will be a display of scale models of Tiros, and demonstrations of the new weather satellite. A color movie on Tiros will be shown every half hour under the auspices of RCA, in whose Astro-Electronics Products Division the Tiros was designed and built. The show will also include a closed-circuit television set so that Fete patrons may see themselves on TV.

Paul and Mary Ritts will give a children's puppet show at 11 and 2:30, introducing their puppets personally to the children in the audience after each performance. Very young children will be cared for in the Tot Tending area where there will be several adult attendants.

At the Collectors' Auction, those present may bid on a 30-foot houseboat, or on furniture, appliances, and accessories, all at bargain prices. Spokesmen for the Fete suggest the Auction for young people furnishing a house.

For hungry patrons, the Fete will provide food and refreshments in snack tents and food shops. Twenty umbrella-topped tables have been arranged to form an outdoor restaurant, and patrons will be served by students from Miss Fine's School Community Service Group.

INDONESIA RAYA! Commencement at Miss Mason's School will be in the Indonesian style this year, and these boys have dressed themselves appropriately for the event in lava-lavas. They are also wearing "pitjis," the black velvet skullcaps worn by Indonesian men. The scal in the background, made by children in the school's art classes, shows the legendary Garuda eagle holding the Indonesian coat-of-arms. The boys are, left to right, Berry Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hoffman, Lawrenceville; Jack Kilgore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kilgore, Pretty Brook Road; and Henry Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Patterson, 46 Westcott Road.

INDONESIAN DAY PLANNED

At Miss Mason's School. Eight and nine-year olds at Miss Mason's School will celebrate "Indonesia Day" Sunday as part of their graduation ceremonies. The boys and girls will perform on the angklung, a traditional Indonesian instrument made of bamboo, and will display art work, maps and costumes from the Asian republic. In case of rain, graduation will be on Monday.

There will be 30 pieces in the angklung orchestra, each with a fixed tone. The children have been taught to read the chords which comprise a piece of music, and each child counts the rhythm to himself and plays his angklung when his chord occurs in the score. The instruments were made for Miss Mason's School in Bandung, Indonesia, and they have been adapted to the western scale. Music for the angklung was arranged by Philip Crawford of Westminster Choir College.

In addition to playing Indonesian tunes, the children will sing the national anthem, "Indonesia Raya," in the original, having been coached in pronunciation by Odeh Suardi, an Indonesian student at Princeton Theological Seminary. They will also eat Indonesian food for refreshments.

Apul Panggabean, cultural attache from the Indonesian Embassy in Washington, and R. Soewandi, former minister of education in Indonesia, will be present at the graduation ceremonies.

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN

Even to Stay-at-Homes. The Memorial Day weekend, traditionally the nemesis of careless motorists, proved this year to be a difficult weekend for stay-at-homes as well. Princeton Hospital dispensary reported an unusual number of fractures, cuts, abrasions and bumps, many of them sustained by picnickers and sportsmen enjoying themselves too vigorously.

Among those seriously injured is Alfred Herzog, 28, R. D. 1, Cranbury, who suffered a skull fracture and a shoulder fracture when he fell 20 feet from the roof of a barn to the concrete floor below. Mr. Herzog is in serious condition in Princeton Hospital.

Playing his own brand of push-button warfare, the Weather Men has been checking the calendar this spring and then opening the rain spout as soon as the weekend arrives. Soon as it's time to go back to work, out comes the sun.

This kind of timing has got to stop, he was advised, not only by Hospital Fete workers but by those looking ahead to Princeton's alumni reunions the following weekend. Fair Thursday, and warm, was his reply, with possible showers Friday afternoon. Clear skies and warm again Saturday and Sunday.

FIVE ARRESTED

Following Picnic Clash. Five young Princeton residents were arrested by State Police Monday afternoon and charged with disorderly conduct after they attacked three Princeton University seniors who were walking near a Lake Carnegie picnic grove. One of the students, Gene Rousseau, 21, of Youngstown, O., required hospital treatment after the fight. He was taken to Princeton Hospital and then transferred to the University infirmary.

Those arrested are Alex Morris, 19, 23 Armour Road; Camillo DiDonato, 19, 27 Harris Road; Bruce Marker, 21, 2 Hamilton Avenue; Anthony R. Geylord, II, 18, 354 Ewing Street; and Anthony Steffanelli, 20, RD 3, Lawrenceville Road.

State police said that the three students—Rousseau and his companions, Charles Hummel, 22, of Birmingham, Mich., and George Kimball, 21, Lake Charles, La., were walking near a picnic grove where several youths were drinking beer. Some words were exchanged and a few rocks thrown.

The students, seeing that they were outnumbered, ran to Canal Road near Alexander followed by five of the picnickers. After a brief scuffle, the attackers fled in two automobiles.

The injured students walked to the home of John Marshall, 168 Alexander, where they were given first aid. Police, summoned by Mr. Marshall, picked up the five youths who will be arraigned this Thursday before West Windsor Magistrate A. C. Reeves Hicks.

NOW, ABOUT YOUR FATHER . . . Elaine Battis as "Mama" has a quiet little talk with Esther Usiskin as "Emma" in the Community Players' production of the Pennsylvania Dutch comedy, "Papa Is All," which will open this weekend at the Playmill on Alexander Street.

News Of The THEATRES

TRIANGLE SHOW BACK

For Reunion Revival. "Breakfast in Bedlam," the 1959-60 Triangle Club show, will be revived and enlarged for reunion audiences in two presentations to be given in McCarter Theatre on Friday and Saturday, June 10 and 11, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the University Store.

The show has been expanded to include several songs from previous shows. This expanded version will leave later in the summer for a tour of Army bases in Germany, Italy and France.

PAPA IS WHAT?

"Dutch" Idiom Used. "Papa is All," in the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect used in the play of that name, means that Papa is dead. Although it would be giving away the plot of the Community Players' comedy to say whether papa actually ends up "All," there are several characters in the play who would probably like to see him just that.

The comedy will open at the Playmill on Alexander Street this Friday at 8:30 and will be seen again on Saturday at the same time. Its runs will resume next Tuesday and end Saturday, June 11.

Constance Loux is directing a cast consisting of Elaine Battis, Edward Callanan, Peter Cook, Esther Usiskin, Mildred Wasserman and Robert Wren.

RETURN OF "POOH"

On Reunion Weekend. "Wunce in a Milne," the reading of A.A. Milne's stories and poems that was given a midnight presentation last month, will be revived for the reunion weekend cocktail hours. Two special children's shows will be offered from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. on Friday, June 10, and Saturday, June 11. There will also be a midnight-cap the same evenings. Tickets, which are unreserved, may be purchased at the box office, Murray Theatre, where the readings will be given, at $1 for adults and 75c for children under 12.

Two Princeton seniors, Grenville Cuyler and St. Clair Sullivan, and a Mount Holyoke senior, Barbara Dilley of Princeton, comprise the "cast." The Daily Princetonian, reviewing the initial "Wunce in a Milne," spoke of it as "a wholly captivating hour . . . The performers obviously delighted in their material and happily they were content to let Milne's enchanting verse speak for itself."

STUDENTS TO DANCE

In Year-End Recital. "TV Previews" and "The Princess and the Pea" will be the chief production numbers in the recital to be presented this Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of Princeton High School by the dance pupils of Betty Kehoe. This will be the tenth annual recital presented by the Kehoe Studio.

Each pupil will dance in "The Princess and the Pea" and in two parts of the "TV Previews". Two musical compositions, "TV Time" and "Good Night, Ladies and Gentlemen" have been written for the recital by Mrs. Bradley Kehoe, director of the studio.

C-K to Offer Spring Series In addition to its three-production fall series presenting Stanley Holloway, Elsa Lanchester and Jose Greco, C-K Productions will offer a spring series featuring other stage and screen stars in productions which will be announced later.

Subscriptions are now available at the University Store or from C-K, Box 591, at $9.50 and $11.50 for the three fall productions. The first will be Stanley Holloway, who will be here on October 3 in a pre-Broadway appearance of his one-man revue which follows the format of the classic English Music Hall routine.

"Elsa Lanchester Censored by Charles Laughton" will follow on November 6, in a unique Sunday matinee presentation. The concluding offering will be Jose Greco and his Spanish Ballet on January 11.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Fugitive Kind (May 29-June 4) is an adaptation of Tennessee Williams' "Orpheus Descending" with a screenplay by Williams and Meade Roberts. The excellent cast features Marlon Brando, Anna Magnani, Joanne Woodward, Maureen Stapleton and Victor Jory.

Brando is a young wanderer who comes to a small Southern town from the nightspots of New Orleans to seek a new and honest life. He is befriended by the sheriff's wife (Miss Stapleton) and the lonely, unhappy wife (Miss Magnani) of a storekeeper who is dying of cancer; just as quickly, he earns the enmity of the sheriff (R. G. Armstrong) and the storekeeper (Jory). To complicate matters, the outcast daughter (Miss Woodward) of a wealthy family finds Brando irresistable and chases him shamelessly. Brando gets caught up in the swirl of hatreds, jealousies and threats when he goes to work for Miss Magnani, and the animosities of Jory and Armstrong combine to bring about his death.

Like all Williams scripts, this is good drama and the danger that you'll be bored is not very real. There is as usual the feeling that the world, however grim, is not quite as black as Williams paints it, but at this late juncture it is perhaps a bit churlish to criticize Williams for not writing light comedy. There is a good deal of power here, and the performances are fine.

Flame Over India (June 5-7) is a combination of a traditional, pre-built Western and "A Passage to India." It takes more than two hours, so you'll get to know India, as well as Kenneth More, Lauren Bacall and Herbert Lom, pretty well before you get back to the parking lot.

The real motive for making the picture apparently was to give the CinemaScope, color cameras a chance to roam around India, and the scenery has a unique, bitter beauty. The story, unfortunately, is neither unique nor beautiful, and only occasionally bitter. Briefly, More and his aides have in hand a five-year-old Hindu prince whose death would precipitate war between Hindus and Moslems. Their objective is to save the child, which is equivalent, we are told so often that all but the most intransigent viewers will agree wearily to Saving India. To perform the twin rescues, the little band of heroes chugs across the continent in a rickety railroad train, which is besieged by more misfortunes than a Canestoga Wagon on the Belt Parkway. Hostile native tribesman, looking suspiciously like leftover John Wayne Cheyennes, attack from the hills; fuel problems plague the train itself, and the band of Good Guys is infiltrated by a sinister Bad Guy (Lom). The acting, especially from More and Miss Bacall, is competent, but the real star is India and the old girl is overexposed.

Who Was That Lady? (June 8-11). The scene is the third basement of the Empire State Building. Dean Martin and Tony Curtis wake up after a long drunk and, because they have been involved in some peripheral espionage adventures, deduce that they must be in a Soviet submarine. Their patriotic duty, they decide, is to sink it, so they begin opening the mazes of water pipes and flooding the area. Finally, with the water rising around their waists and tears flowing from their eyes, they lock arms and face heroes' death bravely, singing "America the Beautiful."

This is the climactic scene of Norman Krasna's very funny picture, adapted into screen shorthand from his Broadway play, "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" Curtis, improbably cast as an associate professor of chemistry at Columbia University, is observed by his wife (Janet Leigh) while kissing a toothsome undergraduate. To help his friend out of this marital dilemma, Martin makes up the story that Curtis is a secret FBI agent and the kiss was part of his rigorous work as a counterspy. This mollifies Miss Leigh, but leads to complications when Martin begins spreading the yarn as a joke. Soon the pair are involved with real-life spies and their unwilling service to the FBI leads through a kidnapping, a funny scene in a Chinese restaurant and finally to the depths of the Empire State Building. It is pure and vastly entertaining farce, and Krasna's screenplay is frequently hilarious.

The focus of the action is around Martin, about whom there

IT'S NEW To Us

WILLIAM, MARY AND MING

What Do You Collect? The Leopard's Head on Chambers Street is ready to accommodate almost anybody's tastes these days. Silver is still the staple of the shop, but exquisite pieces from China, Revolutionary War currency and Dutch brass are also available.

The Chinese pieces—hard to find these days — are mostly bronze, although there is some jade as well. The earliest find is a bronze libation cup from the early Chou period, which places it somewhere between 1100 and 250 B.C. It is about five inches in diameter, with the characteristic diamond diapering on the bottom and a patina of bronze green, the result of the action of earth on the bronze. It was buried for many centuries.

From the T'ang period, about 1200 years ago, there is a stone lion seal about three inches square, the stone lion rubbed smooth from many hands. Another seal, from the 19th century, is made of horn.

It has an English name and several Chinese characters on its tiny surface. An agate leopard about an inch long and a stoppered jade perfume bottle are about three hundred years old.

From the Ming dynasty, The Leopard's Head has a bronze mandarin about 14 inches tall. With a patina which comes, not from the earth, but from the constant rubbing of hands. A Kuan Ying statue from the same period also has the dark, smooth rubbed look. (This is a simple, almost modern statue of the famous goddess, quite unlike the usual curio store representation.)

A black hawthorne vase about two feet high, dates back to 1622. (It has six "marks", which The Leopard Head says is very good indeed.)

Coming forward slightly in time, we find a silver William and Mary tankard from 1693, a magnificent English piece which stands about eight inches high and which bears the silversmith's markings on handle, cover and side. (The Leopard's Head thinks this handsome silver tankard may have been part of Henry Morgan's loot—the dates seem to be right, anyway.)

Antiques for a Bride

With the interests of the June bride at heart, The Leopard's Head has put on display, in the back room, a collection of not-quite-antiques which would be delightful and delightfully inexpensive, wedding gifts. Good silver, tin and bronze pieces from the 18th, 19th and early 20th century are here, pieces like the little pistol-handled knives at $7.50 each, or the silver claw tongs for $2.50.

There's a carving knife with a pistol handle for $17.50, and some very heavy Victorian dinner forks which would be splendid as servers. A brass Chinese box has an inscrutable Oriental lock and a pleasant price tag. There are some fascinating ice-cream "cones" made in England of very thick glass, and there are some splendid silver claret jugs which would do very well for either coffee or water.

Tiny jam or mustard pots, silver sherry glasses, odd pieces of silver cutlery, Edwardian dessert plates—any of these things would make a memorable gift for the bride who may have everything else in duplicate and triplicate.

The Continental, as a piece of legal tender, has not bulged anybody's wallet for quite a while, but the Continental as a collector's item, is something nice to have around the house and The Leopard's Head has five of them, framed neatly together. There's a three-dollar one, a half-dollar, a sixth dollar, a third of a dollar and a two thirds of a dollar. Local historians may be interested in the signature "Mount" borne by two of the pieces of paper money.

And . . . a Dutch brass whale oil lamp with a pick attached for pulling out the wick. . . . rose petal jars in Canton ware. . . . a 16th century German bronze hand warmer. . . . a 17th century doll cradle.

Where You Going? Wherever you're going, you probably haven't left yet, and this gives you plenty of time to call on Allied Homeowners Association, Inc., to sign up for the "House Watcher Service" which will give you piece of mind while you're away for the summer.

The "House Watcher"—which is different from a bird watcher, are two schools of thought. We lean to the view that he is rapidly placing himself among the first rank of screen comedians. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

Masters of the Congo Jungle (May 30-June 4) takes its place among the best documentaries ever produced. Eighty-eight minutes long, in CinemaScope and color, it is a serious and exciting study of life in the Congo. The narration is by Orson Welles and William Warfield. Sam Hill wrote the screenplay.

The color photography is of the first order and the film's subjects cover the broad sweep of the African landscape, from threatening volcanic craters to the wonderfully alive jungles. Native rituals, dances, an elephant hunt and long sequences dealing with animal life are included. Even if you ordinarily shun documentaries, this is one to see. Recommended.

unless you happen to have a canary that needs feeding—will check your home at regular intervals while you are away for the summer. He will water houseplants, check the locks on windows and doors, inspect your furnace, start your car and run it for a few minutes (you know how neglected a car can feel when it's left behind), peer into your basement to see whether anything is leaking that shouldn't be, stop the milkman if you forgot to, and so on.

Home Watchers will even send along anything you forgot in the last minute packing frenzy, and forward to you all the bills the mailman has left in your absence.

This service costs $5 a week for three weekly visits if you are already a member of AHA. If you are not a member, you may obtain the service by paying $3 per visit.

As tips for vacationers, Allied Homeowners suggests that you:

1. Pull the master switch to turn off all electricity.
2. Shut off the water supply.
3. Remove old rags, gasoline, oil or paint cans.
4. Stop deliveries of newspapers, milk and so on.
5. Ask the gas company to turn off the gas.
6. Arrange to have someone cut your grass (unmowed lawns show intruders that nobody is home).
7. Tell the police you're leaving.

3,500 to Read. In the Book Mart's new basement—we were about to say "new paperback basement" but the construction at 11 Palmer Square West is sturdier than that—you will find over 3,500 paperback titles from the lists of some 35 publishers and if that doesn't take care of summer reading, fall study programs and anybody's lifetime reading plan, then you might as well buy a dictionary and make up your own.

The area covered by this new department fills the whole full basement at 11 P.S.W. Each rack is numbered consecutively and there is a master sheet on which every company is listed with the number of its Book Mart shelf. Makes any book as easy to find as a can of beans. There is also a complete catalogue with a subject index.

Paperbacks in this vast collection are quality paperbacks, incidentally; not those 25 and 35 cent treatises on comparative anatomy.

The collection is solid in history, literature and mathematics and whatever fiction has become classic. There is a wide range of titles in religion and politics, as well.

One of the newest lines is the Doubleday Dolphin collection of 200 titles, which parallels to a certain extent the Modern Library list. There are, for example, such works as "Pere Goriot," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Anarchy and Mehitabel", Bruce Catton's "Mr. Lincoln's Army," the Longfellow "Divine Comedy" and so on.

Upstairs, which means on the street floor, of course, the Book Mart has a shelf for brand-new books right off the press and out of the carton. Newly-published works will remain on this shelf for two days before being permanently shelved, so if you visit the shop every other day, you'll see every new book that comes in.

These are hard-bound books, by the way. Another shelf will hold the new paperbacks, and they will be displayed here for a week before they go downstairs to join the other 3,500 titles.

now has 234 members, membership chairman J. F. Meyer announced at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the organization. This represents an increase of 30 over the past two weeks.

Firms well outside the immediate area, such as the Research Center of the Tile Council of America and the Computation Center of Electronic Associates on Route 1, are now members. Mr. Meyer said he hopes to increase the membership to about 500.

Special divisions for retail merchants and for real estate and insurance brokers will be established, President Ralph S. Mason announced at the meeting. He said additional divisions, such as a civic section, would be formed as demand merited.

At the hour-long session, program and planning committee chairman George J. Adriance announced that mail problems are being investigated with the postmaster, that a government affairs committee has been formed, and that the chamber is supporting the proposed bus route from Pennington. The 40-odd members present also heard the details of a group disability plan from M. P. Dickenson of Sturhahn, Dickenson and Bernard, Inc.

TWO HOMES ENTERED

Loss Tops $500. The homes of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pace of 3 Leavitt Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Urken of 416 Nassau Street, were broken into and entered early Friday evening by a thief who stole money and articles whose value exceeded $500. Both couples were temporarily away at the time of the burglary.

Taken from the Pace home were a portable TV set, a glass bank containing about $30 in silver, church envelopes containing $12 and a diamond-studded wristwatch valued at $350. The Urkens lost a child's bank containing $8 and an additional $95 taken from Mrs. Urken's handbag. The TV set and some clothing were later found abandoned by Mr. Pace in his back yard.

At approximately 10:30 the same night, Borough Police received a call from the East Brunswick Township police reporting that a Joseph Ostrowski of Route 18 had found the glass bank stolen from the Pace home with $2.14 still in it. The empty church envelopes with the Pace's name on them had been stuffed inside the bank. Detective George Knowles and Patrolmen Joseph Hagadorn and Ralph Procaccino are investigating the incident.

An open letter to the girl graduates of Princeton High and Miss Fine's Schools:

Dear Graduate:

Congratulations on your approaching graduation! It is a happy occasion, and we would like to share it with you. We invite you to come to our store and choose your sterling pattern from among our wide selection, and to accept from us a graduation gift of a teaspoon in the pattern of your choice.

We are looking forward to welcoming you during the month of June, when we will be happy to show you our sterling flatware by leading manufacturers.

P.S. Dear Parents:

We hope you will come in with your daughter when she makes her selection and that you will want to help her collect this fine solid silver that will always reflect her good taste. There is no better time to start than now at her graduation, for the sterling that you give will last her a lifetime and will be one of the most valued things she will ever own. Remember, we keep an accurate record of all purchases to avoid duplication. We hope to be of continuing service in your selection of gifts for her, when she has indicated her preference.

STEVENSON FOR PRESIDENT

At this crucial juncture in history, our country needs leadership of a caliber which Adlai E. Stevenson can best provide. Although he has not sought the nomination, he has said many times he will serve in any capacity America asks of him.

The Democratic Party has many fine men and selection of the candidate will be a difficult task. We believe only Governor Stevenson has the dimensions the Presidency now demands. Our delegates to the National Convention should know that when they are released by Governor Meyner, New Jersey wants them to support Stevenson.

Our purpose is to demonstrate the vast support Stevenson has among the voters. We want your signature for petitions to present to your delegates at the Democratic National Convention in July. Sign the coupon below if you agree with us, and indicate what additional help you wish to give this Committee.

Do this today—time is short!

OPPOSES SEPARATE VACATIONS: Mrs. Prudence Davis, manager of the travel office in the University Store, opposes separate vacations for husbands and wives on the ground that vacations mean little unless shared with someone close. Others disagree—see below.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of separate vacations for husbands and wives?

Where asked: Princeton Public Library.

R. G. Lutz, 70 Hartley Avenue, market research manager for New York publishing company: In some cases, it's probably a good thing. After spending 50 weeks together, maybe a couple of weeks apart would be beneficial.

Mrs. Warren Hill, 19 Greenhouse, housewife: I think it's crazy. You never get to see your husband much anyway. A vacation is the only time you really can relax and get to know your husband, to find out if you're still in love with each other. It is a wonderful time. I have a 32-year-old son and I still feel the same way about vacations.

William Malcomson, 418-A Devereux Avenue, graduate student in religion: I don't think separate vacations are necessary if you haven't been married very long. But if you have, particularly if you have children, then, perhaps, it would be a good thing to get away from each other for awhile.

Mrs. Prudence Davis, Skillman, manager of the American Express Travel Office, University Store: Personally, I don't believe in separate vacations because I feel half the fun of going somewhere is sharing the experience with someone you're fond of.

Edgar Furniss, 95 Cedar Lane, Instructor in politics at the University: I think it's the worst idea I ever heard of. I get along fine most of the time of the year with my family and I don't see any sense of breaking away for one month, especially when things go so well the other 11.

Mrs. Lewis H. Sarett, Arrenton Road, housewife: I think if they need them, they should take them.

William McIntyre, Pine Street, painter: I think it is a good idea. I feel a husband should get away once in awhile and vice-versa. He should have a chance to get out with the boys. The same thing holds true for women. It might make them appreciate each other a little more.

Mrs. Edwin Hinsdale, 63 Knoll Drive, housewife: I don't approve. I wouldn't dream of it. Basically, being married is living together, doing things together and just being together.

Hugh Butler, Elizabeth, bus driver: I like the idea. It breaks up the daily routine of seeing each other and I think it would be good for both partners. Absence makes the heart grow fonder sort-of-thing, you know.

Mrs. Christine Allais, 345 Nassau Street, French teacher, Nassau Street School, a Parisien in this country one year, I was surprised to discover that so many husbands and wives in this country take separate vacations. In France, a wife would not go on a vacation without her husband. It is done sometimes, but, on the whole, not as frequently as in this country. Personally, I don't like the idea.

Walter Foster, Jr., 740 Kingston Road, secretary of Nassau Savings and Loan: I wouldn't even consider it myself. Without my wife and family, it wouldn't be a vacation. Half the fun is giving your family, as well as yourself, a good time on a vacation.

Mrs. Pauline Zawistowski, Lambert House, Princeton Hospital anesthetist: I wouldn't think of taking a vacation without my husband. My career keeps me away from him the greater part of the week and it gives us great pleasure to be together during our vacation period.

Joseph Wright Jr., N. Post Road, Princeton Junction, salesman: I can't see it. I just enjoy being with my wife.

Mrs. Betty Butler, 193 Witherspoon Street, nurse: I advocate it. I think a change for each person is a good thing.

Orley Swartzentruber, Model Avenue, Hopewell, graduate student in religion. It depends on what kind of life they normally lead. If their normal life keeps them together, then I think seperate vacations would be a good thing. If the opposite is true, they should spend their vacations together. As a graduate student, I spend practically all the day time and some of the night hours away from my home so I always spend my vacation with my wife.

Mrs. C. F. Fischer, Mercer Road, housewife: I just don't like the idea. I think it's a time when they should be together.

Richard E. Moore, Yardville, supervisor, Division of Motor Vehicles, Route 1: I would say some individuals would enjoy it while others, who are not quite so liberal in their thinking, wouldn't accept either mate being away from each other for any period of time. I think the idea, basically, is good, but it would be difficult getting popular acceptance. Families are usually well-integrated and only separate when necessity demands it. I, myself, feel that separate vacations give a couple a fresh point of view, remove tensions that develop in every marriage, and make one more appreciative of the other.

Mrs. Bruce Rosenblum, 3 Glenview Drive, housewife: I don't believe in it. I think husbands and wives should enjoy doing things together, vacations included.

Ralph Geove, Province Line Road, caretaker: It all depends where they are going. If it is just an ordinary vacation trip, then I think a man should take his wife along if he thinks anything of her—unless he has 12 kids i nwhich case he should stay at home. But if a man were going to a place where there were all men, like a convention or a club of some kind, then it would be proper for him to leave his wife behind.

Mrs. Jack Minker, 204 Clover Lane, housewife: I don't like the idea because if my husband left on a vacation, I'd have to stay home with the kids and it would be terribly lonely.

Mrs. George Rodefeld, 68 Erdman Avenue: If I'm going to take a vacation, I'd want to take it with my husband because we have always enjoyed doing the same things together. My husband feels the same way.

STEVENSON GROUP FORMED

Marvel to Serve as Chairman. Supporters of Adlai Stevenson have formed a Mercer County committee to press for his nomination at the Democratic national convention. The committee, which is headed by Township committeeman William Marvel, has joined the New Jersey Stevenson for President Committee.

The purpose of the group is to promote petitions and coordinate efforts to keep uncommitted delegations uncommitted until the convention according to Mr. Marvel. "Many of the hundreds of people who have been eager to sign petitions feel that Adlai Stevenson is the Democrat best able to cope with the post-summit situation," he said.

An informal steering committee met last week at the home of Edward Greenbaum, 104 Mercer Street. Present at the session in addition to Mr. Marvel were Mrs. Elmer Beller, Mrs. Robert Van de Velde, Mrs. Patricia Hartle, Mrs. Malcolm Diamond, Martin Beck, David Blair, Richard Frost and Lewis Spence.

His will was admitted to probate by Surrogate John E. Curry. It directs that Dr. Erdman's widow, Mrs. Estelle Pardee Erdman of 20 Library Place, receive the income from his estate during her lifetime.

Upon her death, the four children will receive equal shares of the residue. The children are Dr. Charles R. Erdman Jr., 20 Boudinot Street; the Rev. Calvin Pardee Erdman, a retired Navy chaplain of Santa Barbara, Calif.; Mrs. Henry E. Lewis of Ann Arbor, Mich.; and Mrs. Francis G. Cleveland of Tamworth, N. H.

Report from THE MAYOR

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will be held on Thursday, June 2, and Thursday, June 9, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings. Public officials from other towns have frequently expressed interest in these weekly conferences and last Thursday Trenton's Mayor Arthur Holland held the first such session in the capital city.

Community Audit Offered. Among last week's visitors were two representatives from the Princeton Branch of "WILPF", the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. They brought the Mayor copies of the Community Audit, a brief but significant document setting forth the results of nine months of study of our town by 15 of their members and co-workers.

Their conclusion: Princeton measures up well in the important business of human rights, though there remain some areas of concern in which community action is needed. Referring to Princeton as "our 'showcase town'", the Audat quotes Emerson's prescient line: "The peoples of the world cannot hear what we say because what we do keeps dinning in their ears."

Legislative Action Taken. Assembly Bill 515, the enabling legislation that would permit housing authorities to build units in adjoining municipalities with the consent of the governing bodies, passed the Senate without a dissenting vote and now awaits signature by the Governor. The bill, previously approved in the Assembly without a dissenting vote, was introduced by Assemblyman Edward Sweeney of Princeton.

It was drafted following Borough-Township discussions of possible housing sites on Borough-owned land in Princeton Township. The units, six single-family dwellings, would be a part of the relocation of families in the area affected by urban renewal.

Safety Campaign Progresses. The Mayor has received a thoughtful letter from Jerrold J. Graber on behalf of the Undergraduate Council of Princeton University. The Council has voiced its appreciation of the efforts of the Borough Traffic Safety Committee and the Borough Council in connection with the Washington Road problems. Of special interest is the statement that "In the year ahead, the Undergraduate Council will seek the support of all campus organizations in carrying forward a vigorous campaign aimed at alerting the campus population to the dangers presented by Washington Road."

"Here Memory Lingers". Once again the Princeton community proved the validity of the words etched on the Princeton Battle Monument as the traditional Memorial Day ceremonies were impressively carried out. Thanks should go to all those who took part—to Post 76 of the American Legion for their organizational efforts, to the hundreds of youngsters and adults who paraded, to the military units from Fort Dix, to the spectators who lined the streets, and to all those in a community that very much cares about the service and sacrifices of all those who have built this town and this nation.

Commencement Time Is Here. If any reminder is needed that Princeton's major industry remains the business of education, it comes in the Mayor's recent mail filled with invitations to a host of commencement exercises. Attending these important ceremonies is an inspiring reminder that this community is making a growing contribution to the kind of strength that matters most in today's world.

SPYING and LYING

These are the ugly words now being associated with us, as Americans, as a result of the recent incident of air espionage over Russia. We can justify spying as a necessity in a stern struggle for survival, but must recognize its danger of triggering a nuclear war.

But admitted lying by our government is something new and deeply disturbing to all Americans.

- Isn't there something fundamentally wrong if our foreign policy inevitably involves us in lying?
- Do two lies made by opponents cancel each other out or hold any hope as a basis for fruitful solutions?

THERE CAN BE ONLY ONE ANSWER FOR US: WE MUST MAINTAIN OUR NATIONAL SELF RESPECT AND INTEGRITY . . . BUT HOW AND STILL SURVIVE?

We now conduct our foreign relations with jungle ethics: Strength for survival—not justice—is the goal: No holds barred: A United Nations based on fine, moral, high-sounding principles but powerless to make such principles effective.

We live in a world jungle. We know it. We act accordingly.

- Doesn't it seem surprising that as a nation we conduct ourselves in this barbaric fashion when at the same time we have organized, successfully and effectively, local, state and national governments which, because they are based on justice to all, permit us to live peacefully and in civilized fashion?
- Isn't it high time our government did more than prate the high-sounding terms of "peace," "justice" and "law" and start exploring with other members of the United Nations how its Charter might be radically revised to make it capable of maintaining a civilized order of society on the world level?

Only thus can we escape our present moral dilemma and avoid the necessity of continued unilateral air espionage. The air bases in Turkey, Pakistan and Norway should be UN bases—not U.S. bases. Their cost should be shared by all. Their purpose should be enforcement of world law based on justice and protection for all—not just U.S. interests.

Down this road lies real hope—based on principles and forms of government that have proved practical and effective, in many countries and over long periods of time.

For 14 years, the World Federalists have been pointing down this road of survival. Why not find out more about their purpose and policies and join them in seeking a way out of our present jungle?

YOU MAY BE A FEDERALIST WITHOUT KNOWING IT!

NEW FIRM DOES RESEARCH

In Chemistry. A new research firm has been added to the Princeton scene. Princeton Chemical Research, Inc., has begun operations in a new building on Cherry Valley Road, next to the Nassau Oil Company.

The focus of P.C.R.'s research will be on plastics, petrochemicals and fuel cells. The research to be done for industrial sponsors on a contract basis. In addition, the firm expects to do its own research, develop its own ideas and eventually manufacture the products developed from its own research.

The founder of the new company is Dr. Calvin N. Wolf, 151 Snowden Lane, former manager of research for Petro-Tex Chemical Corporation. He has also done chemical research and product development for the Ethyl Corporation.

P.C.R.'s new home was originally the Princeton Paint Laboratories building and it is being leased to them by Walter Fullam of Princeton Paint. The structure has been enlarged and now contains 2,000 square feet of space, with modern facilities for chemical research and room to expand these facilities as required.

The new firm is one of the first to be financed by Andresen and Company, a new venture-capital banking house which specializes in capital for small research companies. P.C.R. received $141,000 from Andersen to launch its research.

At present, P.C.R. has a staff of four. By the end of 1960, a staff of ten scientists will be employed in the research labs. Dr. Wolf says that, if the firm goes into the manufacturing end of petrochemicals, it will probably build outside Princetown Township because the problems of water supply and waste disposal in the Township preclude any extensive research or manufacturing activities.

BRANCH OFFICE TO OPEN

Psychological Center Expands. The Princeton Psychological Center will open a branch office in Solebury, Pa., this week to accommodate clients in the Delaware Valley area. Founded last year by three Princeton men trained in psychology, the clinic specializes in aptitude and intelligence testing, vocational guidance and psychological counseling for both adults and children.

Hours at the branch office, located on Chapel Road in Solebury, will be 1 to 6 p.m., Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Appointments may also be made during those hours by calling VO 2-5592.

The Princeton headquarters at 13 Witherspon Street will now be open from 9 a.m. to noon, Mondays through Fridays. Appointments may be made at WA 1-0321.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

PHS BLANKS HUNTERDON

As Lackey Hurls One-Hitter. A one-hit shutout by Jack Lackey sent Princeton High School's baseball team into the semi-final round of the Central Jersey Group III Tournament Saturday. The Little Tigers blanked North Hunterdon Regional, 8-0, their 11 hits in the one-sided victory including a homer by Lackey himself.

The triumph, combined with a 14-1 trouncing of highly-regarded Trenton High and a 10-0 shutout at the hands of Somerville, set the PHS record at 10 and 4. For details of further action in the tournament, see box, page 28.

Nine Princetonians went to the plate in the first inning against Hunterdon, providing Lackey immediately with a four-run margin. All the scoring was achieved after the first two batters had been retired.

Lackey's Texas League single over second and Jack Hawkins' hit to the left put two men aboard, Bruce Sandvick scoring Lackey with a hit that brushed the bag at third. Hawkins crossed the plate when the shortstop booted Rick Hurford's grounder and after Hurford stole second, Dick Olsen singled sharply to right to make it 4-0.

The victors pushed single runs around in each of the next three frames, Boyd Bergen doubled and Ray Cranstoun singled for the first of these, while catcher Ed King's double chased home another in the third. Sandvick's single after two walks scored a run in the fourth and Lackey's homer in the sixth capped a fine day for the Little Tigers.

Coach Harry Zoll credited the victory to "excellent pitching, solid hitting and satisfactory defensive play." The lone safety off Lackey was a clean single over second base in the fourth inning.

Trenton High Trounced. A Trenton High outfit which was 14-4 on the season, including a one-sided victory over the Princeton freshmen, was roughly handled by the Little Tigers last week at Trenton. Earlier in the season, the Tornadoes had handed PHS its first defeat, but in the return game, they were 14-1 victims for their first 1960 loss at home.

Lackey worked the first five innings, Jack Rogerson blanking the losers for the final two. A grand slam by Sandvick that capped a six-run first inning was the big blow of the day.

Zoll then saw his able operative duplicate their six-run outburst with another cluster of that number in the top of the seventh. Hawkins had a tremendous day at bat, collecting five hits in as many trips to the plate. The 14 runs were one of the highest totals ever recorded against Trenton, the output ranking as only the third time in the last 100 games that an opponent has gone into double figures against THS.

The ups-and-downs of school baseball were accurately reflected 24 hours later when Somerville blanked the Little Tigers, 10-0, on the victors' diamond. Sandvick was the losing pitcher as PHS managed a pair of first-inning hits by Cranstoun and Lackey before subsiding completely.

NILES PICKS ELEVEN

To Compete in State Meet. Win Niles, head track coach at Princeton High School, has selected 11 members from this year's strong PHS squad to represent the Blue and White in the New Jersey State Meet to be held Saturday at Rutgers Stadium in New Brunswick. They will be competing against the best athletes from 25 to 30 Group III high schools throughout the state.

Chosen by Niles are co-captain Lamont Fletcher and Jerry Cypress in both the low and high hurdles; Steve Scibetta in the 100-yard dash; and Dick Lappan in the 880. Entered in the field events are Joe Beachell and Ben

Scholarship to Lappan

Richard A. Lappan, a caddy at the Springdale Golf Club for the past four years, has been awarded a $2000 N. J. Golf Association scholarship to Rutgers. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Lappan of 201 Moore Street, he is one of five caddies to receive the special scholarships.

The 18-year old senior at Princeton High School captained the Little Tiger cross country team last fall. This spring, he has run the half-mile for the PHS track team, winning the event in the Central Jersey meet last weekend.

Candidates for the scholarship were judged on the basis of high school records, college board examinations, high school records, high school recommendations, golf club recommendations, character, leadership and financial need.

Collins, javelin; Howard Gould, discus; and co-captain Ridge Applegate, discus and shot put. Also nominated are Pepper Constable, 880; Rich Montgomery, high jump; and Jack Copeland, pole vault.

Chief hopes for winning performances rest on Fletcher and Beachell. Fletcher is unbeaten in dual meets in both the low and high hurdles. Beachell, a junior, broke the New Brunswick Invitation Meet record in the javelin last week with a toss measuring 192 feet, 11⅞ inches. "I think Fletcher will score and I figure Beachell will do well in the javelin," Niles said, adding, "I have every confidence in them.

"I also wouldn't be surprised if Cypress scored, too," Niles went on. "He can stay right in there with Fletcher. I wouldn't be surprised to see Lappan cut loose in the half mile, either. I've never seen him tired at the end of a race and the only problem he has to overcome is pacing himself. This is new to him and he doesn't know how fast to run the first lap." Until recently Lappan had run the mile, but his time for the event, good as it was, wouldn't stand up under state-wide competition.

Lappan Wins, Fletcher Beaten. A half-mile clocking of 2:05.4 by Dick Lappan won the Group III title in this event for Princeton High Saturday at Asbury Park. It was the Little Tigers' lone first, as Fletcher had to be content with the runner-up spot in the low hurdles and with third place in the highs. Beachell was third in the javelin as Princeton High's total of 22 1/5 was good for fourth place, behind South River, Toms River and Bound Brook.

In the New Brunswick Invitation Meet last Wednesday, PHS placed third behind a pair of Group IV schools, New Brunswick and Highland Park, with 33 points. Fletcher won the low hurdles and Beachell the javelin.

SEIXAS HERE SATURDAY

Will Give Tennis Clinic. Vic Seixas, long one of the top ranking tennis amateurs in the United States, will help Princeton's juniors tennis players on Saturday. He will participate in a tennis clinic scheduled for 9:45 a.m. on the three cork-turf courts directly behind the University's Dillon Gym.

The clinic, which is being sponsored by the Junior Development Committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, Princeton University and the Princeton YM-YWCA, will include an exhibition match by members of Princeton's varsity tennis squad. Also participating will be Gil Hunt, Professor of Mathematics at the University, who held national ranking prior to World War II.

TIGERS FACE YALE

After Hammering Fordham, 12-1. The first of the annual home-and-home contests with Yale awaits the Princeton baseball team Saturday at New Haven. The Tigers edged the Elis, 6-5, in an Eastern League meeting here last month, and off the good pitching turned in by Wally Phillips and Dave Douglas in their recent victories over Navy and Fordham, are favored to sweep the 1960 meetings with the Blue.

Colgate will be here next Wednesday at 4, the wind-up contest for the Tigers before the commencement weekend game with Yale. The Red Raiders had a fine 15-4 season but were beaten by Delaware in the semi-final round of the District II NCAA playoffs.

Normally a solid college baseball team, Fordham had all kinds of trouble Saturday at University Field as it was smothered, 12-1, by Eddie Donovan's nine. The two pitchers used by the Rams issued 15 bases on balls; the center fielder circled vainly under a

NICK KOVALAKIDES
IC4A Champion

A 20-year old native Princetonian who took up the javelin in his sophomore year at Princeton High School turned in two record-breaking performances at the IC4A track meet in Philadelphia last weekend. Nick Kovalakides, representing the University of Maryland, first topped the old IC4A javelin mark in the trials on Friday and then proceeded to break his own day-old mark in the finals Saturday.

Kovalakides tossed the spear 233 feet, 2½ inches Friday, topping the mark set by Don McGorty of Manhattan in 1958 by a full four feet. His Saturday effort raised the record distance another two feet, to 235 feet, 7 inches.

Breaking records isn't anything new for the 6-2½, 200-pound Maryland junior. Just prior to his graduation from Princeton High in 1957, he set a New Jersey Interscholastic mark of 211 feet, 8 5/8 inches, which still stands.

Kovalakides started throwing the javelin on the advice of Irwin Weiss, coach of many PHS championship track teams. At Princeton High, he was coached by Jerry Groninger under the direction of Win Niles, who remembers him as "very conscientious, quick to learn and easy to coach." Kovalakides won the state title in his sophomore, junior and senior years.

At Maryland, he has given up basketball and football, both of which claimed time at PHS, to concentrate on the weights. As a sophomore he won both the IC4A meet (with a throw some 11 feet short of this year's first record-breaking toss) and set his personal mark of 239 feet, 2 ½ inches. Earlier this year he topped 220 feet at three meets within a week.

Kovalakides lives with his parents at 242 Nassau Street. Ironically, he had never met Lawrenceville resident Ed Thurber, who placed second in the IC4A javelin event while representing Princeton University, until last weekend.

With Saturday's record performance, Kovalakides now ranks as one of the top javelin men in the country and stands a good chance of representing the U.S.A. in the Olympics this summer in Rome. He will journey to California later this month for the AAU meet and the Olympic trials.

Sports In Princeton pair of booming blows that fell for triples; and the scatter-armed catcher threw wildly enough so that Ken Murray, one of the slower members of the Tiger team, stole his first two bases of the season.

The Rams got to Douglas for three straight hits and a run in the first, but thereafter never advanced a runner past second. The Tiger southpaw's control was sharp as he fanned five and walked only one.

Nine Princetonians went to bat in the second to produce four runs, two of them crossing the plate on a fine double squeeze executed by third baseman Bob Myslik. After pushing a fifth tally around in the next frame, the Tigers went scoreless until the eighth.

In that round, three walks, three singles and a pair of triples broke a relatively close game wide open. Captain Mike Ippolito and substitute infielder Olin West got the three-baggers, both driven to deep center. West completed the circuit when the relay went astray at third.

TWO FINISH SECOND

In IC4A Track Meet. Ed Thurber and Dick Edmunds placed second in their respective events at the IC4A track meet Saturday at Villanova, which saw the Wildcats take the mile relay in record time to win the title over Penn State by a half a point.

Edmunds topped the rival he feared most in the 440 as he beat Yale's Jim Stack to the tape. Stack had trimmed the Princeton junior four times this year, indoors and out. Edmunds led the pack during the early part of the race but could not sustain his pace and was beaten by four feet by Jim Wedderburn of N.Y.U. in a good 47.4.

Thurber would have had to better his top javelin effort by two feet to have taken his speciality. His performance of 224 feet, 8⅜ inches was 11 feet behind the record-breaking toss of Nick Kovalakides (see "We Congratulate.")

PHS WINS TWICE

In NJSIAA Tennis. Princeton High School made it through two rounds of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association tennis tournament last weekend before being eliminated by Montclair. The Little Tigers' two victories included a 2-1 defeat of Ferris High School and a 3-0 upset over sixth-seeded Bridgeton.

Representing PHS in the three day, 45-team elimination tournament were Alan Tucker, Ralph Harbison, Craig Sommers and Griffin Dix. In losing 3-0 to Montclair on Saturday only Sommers and Dix, making up the doubles team, were able to claim a set.

ART EXHIBIT PLANNED

At Studio-on-the-Canal. Paintings and sculpture by adult students of the Studio-on-the-Canal will be displayed this Friday. The exhibit is scheduled to open at 8 p.m. at the studio.

Included in the work are projects by the advanced painting class taught by Hughie Lee-Smith, the sculpture class of H. Kempton Hastings and the beginners' classes in oils and water color conducted by Rex Goreleigh. The show is open to the public.

YWCA SUMMER CLASSES

Art, Swimming Offered. The YWCA will give classes in art and swimming for girls and mothers this summer. Mothers taking the Wednesday art classes or the swimming classes will be able to leave their children in the nursery, which will be open from 9:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Wednesdays.

Two art classes, featuring lessons outside if weather permits, will be held, with one scheduled for 9:30 to 11:30 Wendesday and the other for 10 to noon Monday. Beginning and advanced students will be accepted for both classes.

Beginners' swimming for six and seven-year-old girls will be offered on Friday afternoons, while classes for eight-year-olds and over will be held three times a week. Mother-toddler swim classes are scheduled for Friday morning (five-year-old boys and girls) and Wednesday morning (three and four-year-old boys and girls). Women's swim classes, slimnastics and slim-swim will also meet on Wednesday.

Registration for the classes will be the week of June 13. Additional information may be obtained from the YWCA (WAlnut 4-4825).

ADULT SCHOOL DATES SET

For Fall Term. Dates for the fall term of the 1960-61 Princeton Adult School were announced this week. The school will open Thursday, September 29, and continue for 10 sessions through Thursday, December 8, omitting the Thursday session which falls on Thanksgiving.

An open house will be held at Princeton High School on Thursday, September 22. The open house is designed to give prospective students a chance to meet the school instructors and discuss courses to be given. Registration will also be held at this time.

In response to suggestions from both students and instructors, the language courses next year will run for 20 sessions instead of 10. In addition, the language classes will be for two hours instead of one. Purpose of the change is to provide students with a chance to cover more ground with a greater continuity of subject matter.

News Of The CHURCHES

SEND CHILDREN TO CAMP

Project of Church Women. About 16 boys and girls from Princeton's needy families will be sent to camp this summer by the Princeton Council of Church Women. The Council, composed of representatives from nine Protestant churches, has raised over $450 for the project, which is in its first year.

"We are very pleased with the response and have done better than we hoped" Mrs. Harry Hill, chairman of the camp committee, commented. She added, however, that the council had also found a greater need than it had expected.

The children will be sent to camp for either two weeks or a month. Boys will go to the YMCA camp on the Hun School grounds, and the girls will attend the two-week Girl Scout camp on River Road.

The Council started the project in April on the suggestion of Howard W. Stepp, registrar of Princeton University, who has worked with boys in Princeton for a number of years. Children to be sent to camp were selected in consultation with Borough and Township welfare workers.

In future years the Council hopes to continue the free camp program — its first local project — according to Mrs. Hill. She said that the Council would like to send some needy children to resident camp rather than just day camp.

Mrs. O. C. Hopper is president of the Council this year. The member churches are the Methodist, Calvary Baptist, Trinity Episcopal, First Presbyterian, Second Presbyterian, Witherspoon Presbyterian, Mt. Pisgah A.M.E., Religious Society of Friends and the First Baptist.

LEAD CHANGES HANDS

As Plainsboro Drops Two. A pair of narrow defeats during the past week dropped Plainsboro from the lead in the Men's Softball League, Sanninos moving into the top spot by winning both its contests. In other action, the Sportsmen, Green Gables and Teagues all won twice but the last-named entry also dropped a game.

A one-hitter by Joe Fisher of Green Gables was responsible for Plainsboro's first loss, single tallies in the first two innings giving the Belle Mead nine a 2-0 triumph. Tuesday evening, Joe DeMeglio edged Plainsboro for Sanninos, hurling his team into first place with a 2-1 triumph.

Huck McCreedy's 3-2 triumph over Leo's Rural Service, achieved last Thursday, marked the league-leaders' other success. All their runs came in the sixth, the losers' two-run rally in the final frame falling just short.

The Sportsmen moved into a second-place tie with Plainsboro by hammering the Chemical Workers, 20 to 6, and then turning back Teagues, 6-3, on Tuesday. A three-run fifth broke up the deadlocked contest.

Teagues' pair of victories were scored at the expense of Leo's (10-9), a game finished under protest, and Circle Esso (12-8.) Teagues opened with five runs in the latter contest, promptly lost the lead in the same round as Circle Esso collected six, but then came back to win by four.

Green Gables, which forfeited its May 24th game to Circle Esso, 7-0, got another one-hitter Tuesday from Fisher as he set back Leo's, 7 to 1. A second forfeit marked the week's action Tuesday when the Chemical Workers failed to field a team against Circle Esso for the latter's second 7-0 triumph in eight days.

NATIONALS TRIUMPH

In Midget All Star Game. The National League outscored the American League in the YMCA Midget All-Star Game Memorial Day, routing the losers, 20-10. The Nationals jumped to a first-inning 6-0 lead, managed to contain mid-game rallies by the American League and put the game on ice in the final innings.

Team scores for the week in the National League were Dodgers 7, Pirates 1; Giants 6, Braves 3; Giants 6, Red Legs 0. In the American League: Tigers 10, Yankees 8; Indians 6, Red Sox 5; and Athletics 12, Orioles 4.

League standings in the American League find the Hulit Yankees in first place with 37 points with Nassau Oil Tigers following close behind with 35. Trailing, in order, are Princeton Kiwanis Orioles, Nassau Savings & Loan Athletics, First National Bank Indians and Laidlaw Red Sox.

The P.M.I. Giants are leading the National League with 41 points with the Rotary Club Dodgers in second place with 31. The University Club Braves, Plainsboro Lions Pirates, Houghton Red Legs and Princeton Lions Cardinals follow in that order.

HUN PLACES 2ND, 5TH

In Schoolboy Regatta. The Hun School's eight-oared shells collected a second and fifth place in last weekend's National Schoolboy Rowing Association regatta on Lake Carnegie.

After turning in the best qualifying time for its division, the senior Hun eight finished second behind defending champion Washington and Lee High School of Arlington, Va., in the finals. In the junior eight-oared division, the Hun oarsmen placed fifth, with W & L again picking up the victory.

HUN NINE DROPS FINALE

To Solebury. Beaten by Hun earlier in the season, Solebury came back to shade the Red and Black, 4-3, in a return game on its home field last Wednesday. Despite the loss in its finale, Hun managed to end the season with a winning 7-6 record.

Losing pitcher Frank Black struck out six and gave up only one hit in being tagged with the hard-to-take loss. The only run came in the fourth and was unearned as the Hun catcher dropped the ball on a force play at the plate. Hun loaded the bases in the first but, as in past games, was unable to get its runners home.

WINS VARSITY LETTER

In Wrestling. Richard L. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. H. Jackson, 117 Mercer Street, has been awarded his varsity "P" for wrestling at Princeton University.

Jackson was the only student from New Jersey to win a varsity letter in the sport. The Tiger grapplers won three and lost six dual meets in last season.

TOWN TALK

All of this talk about the new census figures is intriguing. It appears now that the Township population is up and that the Borough is down.

One fact is clear. The number of persons selecting Techbuilt homes is up and they usually require little down.

Residents who experience ups and downs trying to find homes they really like should see the floor layouts of Techbuilt homes at Chas. J. Drains Co. 90 Nassau St. The brochure showing plans is free for the asking.
